GRANTS SEWARD SALOON LICENSE

Special Judge Alexander Rules That City is Entitled to One More Thirst Parlor.

MAKES TOTAL OF SEVEN HERE

Will Issue Mandate to Rush County Commissioners to Grant the Application.

Basil Seward was granted a saloon license today by Special Judge F. M. Alexander of Brookville, who heard the case in the Fayette county circuit court on an appeal from the Rush county commissioners' court and a change of venue from the circuit court.

Judge Alexander after hearing the argument on the case decided in Seward's favor. His ruling was that Seward should have a license because Rushville at present is limited to less than one saloon to every one thousand population. Judge Alexander will issue a mandate to the Rush county commissioners instructing them to issue a license to Seward.

It is not known what the commissioners will do in the matter, but taken from their past actions it would seem that they believe the city has its full number of saloons and will not be in favor of granting the license. Donald Smith represented Seward and had an opinion from Attorney General Honan to the effect that the city was entitled to another saloon. The granting of a license to Seward will give the city seven saloons.

The mandate from the Fayette county circuit court will be taken up by the commissioners at their next regular meeting, which will be the first Monday in November. Seward's application was first heard by the commissioners at the regular meeting of the October term. He applied for a license to open a saloon in the old Star-Grand theater room in West Second street. Considerable interest has been taken in the case as it was the first of its kind to come up in this or Fayette county.

WORK WILL BEGIN ON LINE

Pipe For Water Main Extension to New Addition Arrives.

The pipe for the extension of the water mains to the new factory and the Belmont addition arrived this afternoon. The work of placing the mains will begin in a few days. The city has been waiting for the pipe to arrive or the work would have started some time ago. It is planned to begin excavating as soon as possible and have the work completed before cold weather.

APPENDICITIS VICTIM.

Following an operation performed Friday evening, Carl Lawless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawless of St. Paul died at their home Saturday. The boy had been in a serious condition for a week and the operation was decided on as the last chance. The funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock.

NOTHING INFERRED.

Indianapolis News: Of course the law does not permit the mayor to succeed himself in this city, but if Mr. Shank were to move to Rushville as he says he may, his municipal experience would, of course, be valuable in case anything happened to him there.

KIS-ME KLUB VICTORIOUS

Takes Hotly Contested Game From Gwynneville Rag-Weed Wonders.

In one of the hardest contested games of the season the Kis-me Klub of this city won from the Rag-weed Wonders of Gwynneville at the latter place by a score of 3 to 0. The three points were made by a drop-kick from the 25-yard line. They brought back as a trophy the back of a jersey captured by Edward Cooning while making one of his famous flying tackles.

WOLFE IS INDICTED BY THE GRAND JURY

Poison King, Once Painter in This City is Charged With Arson at Hamilton, Ohio.

CONNECTED WITH BARN FIRE

Charles Wolfe, the painter poison king, who pulled off some of his fake stunts in this city and who was formerly engaged as a painter here, was indicted by the Butler county grand jury at Hamilton, Ohio, Saturday.

It will be remembered that Hamilton suffered some very disastrous fires not long ago and at the time they were thought to be the work of a fire bug. Wolfe was in Hamilton at the time and during one of the fires he was caught by the Hamilton police acting in a suspicious manner and was placed under arrest. An investigation made as to his whereabouts at the time of the several different fires warranted the police holding him on the arson charge. It will also be remembered that Wolfe was connected with a fire in Butler county several years ago and did time in the penitentiary for it.

RISKS LIFE TO SAVE HIS HORSES

Chester Phares With Reluctance Allows Friends to Drag Him
From Blue River.

BARELY ESCAPES DROWNING

Chester Phares, a young farmer living a few miles southwest of Arlington, narrowly escaped death by drowning in the waters of Little Blue River Saturday when his team lunged in the water while fording a stream. The horses were drowned and it is very likely that Phares would have lost his life also had it not been for William Hutchinson and two other men who witnessed the accident and dragged him from the water. Phares remained in the water and attempted to loosen the horses from the wagon until the witnesses on the bank insisted that he come ashore and leave the horses to their fate. They were compelled to pull him from the stream finally and it was with the greatest reluctance that he left the horses to be drowned.

The accident occurred on the Jasper Hester farm at a point along the river where a dredge was being operated to take gravel from the river for use on the roads of the township, and several men were at work at the place Saturday. Mr. Phares had loaded his wagon and had started to pull from the place when the horses balked. The team drowned was worth at least $250.

ELUDES HUSBAND AND TAKES POISON

Mrs. Benjamin Loudon, Living Near Moscow, Swallows Laudanum and Strychnine.

GOES TO VISIT A RELATIVE

Husband Worries, Starts on Hunt, and Returns to Find His Wife
Dying—Leaves Note.

Following a carefully laid plan to take her life, Mrs. Adelina Loudon, wife of Benjamin Loudon, living west of Moscow, committed suicide Saturday night. Mrs. Loudon took a dose of strychnine and a dose of laudanum to make sure that she would die.

She planned cleverly and adroitly, even under the eye of her husband, to take her life. He had no intimation that she would even attempt to commit suicide, but he had noticed that his wife had been acting strangely for several days.

Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Loudon were sitting in their home and Mrs. Loudon suggested that she go to the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Bales, a distance of only a few hundred yards, to spend a few minutes with her. She left the house and had been gone several minutes when Mr. Loudon became a little worried and called the Bales home to inquire if she was there. The answer came that she was not.

Mr. Loudon immediately started to search the premises but failed to find her and then went to the Bales home to have Mr. Bales assist him in the search. Messrs Loudon and Bales then returned to the former's home and were surprised to find Mrs. Loudon there. She had returned in the absence of her husband after having taken the poison and had retired.

After a hurried examination the two men realized that she had taken poison and called Dr. J. R. Keeling of Waldron. When the physician arrived fifteen minutes later, Mrs. Loudon had lost consciousness and her death followed within a very few minutes. Dr. Keeling stated that the symptoms showed both strychnine and laudanum poisoning.

Mrs. Loudon was forty-six years and nine days of age. She is survived by her husband, Benjamin Loudon, one son, Orville Loudon, and one daughter, Mrs. George Bales, both of Middletown; one sister, Mrs. Hattie Landworland, and six brothers, Frank, David, Henry, Andrew, Fred and Philip Meltzer, all of Shelby county, also survive her.

In a letter pinned to her clothing and addressed to the county coroner, Mrs. Loudon requested that her funeral services be conducted promptly at one o'clock from the Baptist church in Waldron, with the Rev. Mr. Huntington officiating. The interment will be made in the Waldron cemetery.

Mrs. Loudon also requested in the letter to the coroner that the following friends serve as pallbearers, Mrs. Charles Lewis, Mrs. David Widner, Mrs. Jefferson Lantz, Mrs. Alfred Chrisler, Mrs. Jacob Coy and Mrs. Frank Hammond. She did not state the cause of her rash act but it is thought that brooding over her health which has been poor for the past several months, prompted her to take her life.

ELECTION AT LEWISVILLE.

WANTS TO ENTER SOLDIERS' HOME

George McCreary, a Civil War Veteran Desires Admittance to Marion Institution.

SAYS HE IS TOO OLD TO WORK

Guardian Refuses to Give up His Pension Certificate Preventing Old Man From Getting In.

George McCreary, an old soldier, desires admittance to the Soldiers' home in Marion, but can not go because his guardian will not give up his pension certificate. Mr. McCreary is getting too old to work and for this reason wants to go to the home. The local post of the G. A. R. has been working on the case for some time and the application blanks have been received but the old soldier's pension certificate is still in the hands of his guardian and until this is obtained he can not be admitted.

Mr. McCreary has been living with William Thompson in Orange township. He worked there most of the summer and since his services are no longer needed and as cold weather is approaching he wishes some place to spend the winter and would like to enter the Marion home. To enter the home it is necessary to present a pension certificate and discharge from the army. His discharge has been destroyed, but a duplicate can be had from the war department. It seems that there are two sides to the case and many are of the opinion that his guardian, Frank Bird of Greensburg is in the right. If Mr. Bird should turn over McCreary's pension certificate then his guardianship would cease.

Mr. Bird claims that McCreary is getting childish in his old age and does not really know what he wants. McCreary's only living relative is Bird's wife, who is his cousin. McCreary claims that Bird makes him earn his own living in the summer time and that he is no longer able to do so. He is in a feeble condition and says he can no longer work.

McCreary called upon the local post of the G. A. R. for help in the matter and the members have done about all that they could. All attempts to get the certificate from Mr. Bird have proved unsuccessful and as he is the duly appointed guardian of the man it appears that McCreary will not get in the Soldiers' home. It is said Mr. Bird has about $1100 belonging to the old man and that if his guardianship ceases this money will be taken care of by the officials at the home in case McCreary is admitted.

MRS. WILLIAM PRINE DEAD

Passed Away Saturday at Her Home Near Raleigh.

The funeral services of Mrs. Will Prine, who died Saturday afternoon at her home west of Raleigh were held this afternoon in the Raleigh Christian church. Burial took place in the Zion cemetery. Mrs. Prine had been ill for several weeks and her death had been expected. She was 55 years old. Besides a husband, two brothers, Oliver and Charles Rich, and one sister, Mrs. J. B. Blount, survive.

TOM WORTHINGTON IS OUT

Receives Discharge From Madison
Insane Asylum.

County Clerk Verne Norris has received notice of the discharge of Thomas Worthington from the southeastern asylum for the insane at Madison. Tom had only been at the asylum about two months and before being taken there insisted that he was not crazy. He was discharged Saturday but has not arrived in this city. The N. B. on the certificate of discharge received here said, "Will not have to be sent for, left voluntarily."

RUSHVILLE'S FAME GOES MARCHING ON

Fremont, Nebraska, Editor Writes
Secretary of Local Organization
For New Wrinkles on Boosting.

THEY ARE SENT POST HASTE

The fame of Rushville is spreading far and wide. The secretary of the Rushville Retail Merchants Association has received a letter from the editor of the Fremont, Nebraska, Herald, who inquires about Rushville bargain days and other wrinkles for boosting the city. Of course this is right in Rushville's line. The city seems to have developed many new wrinkles in that department of business and Rushville is willing to help other struggling cities.

The secretary of the association wrote a long and comprehensive letter to the editor of the Herald explaining the steps which placed Rushville on the footing that it has today. He explained the campaigns which have been conducted by the commercial organization and with what success they have met. He told of the improvements made here in the last year or so, namely, brick streets and cluster lights. He also wrote a graphic description of Rushville's bargain days and the unexpected success which they attained.

CONCERN FELT FOR WINIFRED MUIRE

Late News Dispatches Say Chinese
Province in Which Local Missionary is Working, is Occupied.

AMERICANS ARE SEEKING AID

Much concern is being felt here for the welfare of Miss Winifred Muire, who is acting as missionary in China where a revolution of great proportion is in progress. News dispatches this afternoon convey the intelligence that Nan Chang, where Miss Muire was located until recently, was occupied by revolutionists today. Miss Muire was transferred to Nan Kang, which is only forty miles distant. Both cities are in the province of Kiangsi and it is supposed that it is all overrun by the revolutionists.

Late news dispatches say that the naval forces in Chinese waters are adequate for the protection of foreigners should they be endangered, of which contingency, there is no sign at the present time. Reports from Shanghai are that Americans have appealed to the consul-general asking for the protection of American gunboats. No word has been received from Miss Muire in this city.

UNION STATION TALK STILL HEARD

High officials of Pennsylvania Railroad Are Highly in Favor of Joining Together to Build.

THEY NEED NEW STATION HERE

New York Central, Controlling L. E.
& W. and Big Four, Are Only
Drawbacks, it is Said.

Few days pass that Jesse Higgins, Pennsylvania agent in this city, does not receive from offices of the Pennsylvania railroad requests for copies of the Daily Republican of a recent date when an article appeared in which it was pointed out that the opportunity is at hand to obtain a union station for all the railroads entering this city.

Mr. Higgins says that the officials of the Pennsylvania are highly interested in the proposal and would no doubt be glad if such an arrangement should be made. There is no doubt but what the Pennsylvania intends to build a new station here in the next few years and the opinion is expressed that the Pennsylvania would much prefer to pay its part for a union station as it would make it more convenient for the road and would lessen the expense.

The Pennsylvania has been figuring for years, as has been mentioned before, to do away with its tracks through this city. They wish to do this because there is such a grade that it is necessary to reduce the tonnage on some of the freights so that the engines can pull the load up the grade and at the same time around the curve in the tracks which pass through the center of the city.

The C. H. & D. railroad could well afford to join with the other railroads as the location of a union station at the junction of the L. E. & W., Big Four and C. H. & D. would be highly convenient for the C. H. & D. as well as all of the other roads concerned. It would be inconvenient only for the Pennsylvania and it is said that road would be glad to circle around the north part of the city and come in to a union station rather than build a new station on the site of the old one and still have to contend with the grade in that part of the road which runs through this city.

That the C. H. & D. needs a new station here there is no doubt. The present building has been an eyesore to Rushville for many years, ever since it was wrecked when two engines collided at the intersection of the Pennsylvania and the C. H. & D. and fell over on the building.

It is possible under the State law for Rushville taxpayers to petition the State Railroad Commission for a new C. H. & D. station and the commission could compel the road to build, but it is a question whether that would spoil the union station plans.

The only drawback to plans for a union station, it is said, is the feeling of the New York Central which controls the L. E. & W. and the Big Four. It is said that the management of that road is very conservative and possibly would not look with favor on such a plan. It is argued by those who assert they know the true situation that a union station will be built in Rushville sooner or later.

Indiana Federation of Societies to Have Celebrities at Convention

The fifth annual convention of the Indiana Federation of Clubs will meet in Indianapolis, October 24th, 25, and 26.

The announcement is of deep interest to the 10,000 women of the 250 clubs which comprise it, for it is in these yearly gatherings of live energetic co-workers that they gain new ideas for the coming year, and the inspiration to carry them out.

The women's club was in the outset, the chosen theme of the would-be humorist. The funny paragraph in regard to the husband whose clothes were ragged and buttonless, who came at the close of a hard day to a dreary, supperless home, or who was left at home to care for the baby while his wife attended lectures on Greek Art, or read papers on Ibsen, is too well known to receive more than passing notice.

Some of the club work of the past has doubtless been ill-advised. Many of the papers which required weeks of encyclopaedic research from busy middle-aged housekeepers might well have remained unwritten, but like all other movements that have brought mankind forward, it has been an evolution. This desire for self-betterment, for a broader knowledge, on the part of women who had been denied the benefits of higher education, as wider opportunities were opened was necessary as a beginning, though.

extension, art exhibits, music festivals, the beautifying of cemeteries, the planting of trees, in parks and public places, the distribution of flower seeds, with prizes for well kept lawns and back yards, the opening of play-grounds and vacation schools, establishing rest rooms for working girls, aiding juvenile and probation court work, the sale of Red Cross stamps to aid in stamping out tuberculosis, manual training and domestic science for schools, settlement work among the poor, clubs to enlarge the life of country women, and many purely local matters.

But mental culture was only one phase of the development of the club idea. Training in parliamentary procedure, and the conduct of business; and most of all, the broader outlook upon life that came as the result of the mingling on common ground, of the intelligent, thoughtful women of a community, have gradually wrought a vital change in the character of women's club work.

Self-improvement was the key-note of the early club; the improvement of others is the mission of the club of today; and to accomplish these results, organization is necessary—organization of the various clubs of a city, state and national organization.

The Indiana Federation of Clubs has three departments, and almost every club takes an active part in one or the other of them.

The Department of Conservation has for its work: Civics, Civil Service, Conservation of Natural Resources, Health, Household Economics, Food Sanitation, and Industrial and Social Conditions.

The Department of Education considers Art, Library Extension, Literature, Music and Parent Teacher Clubs, as well as matter directly concerning the conducting of the Federation.

The Legislative Department assists in drafting bills for reform work in the state legislative and in city councils. They have taken an active part in temperance legislation, in the housing bill to regulate tenements, in the child labor laws, pure food laws, prison reform, establishment of juvenile courts, and many other measures.

The record of individual clubs shows that almost everyone has accomplished something for its community.

Most important is the work done to assist in driving the saloon from Indiana towns, but notable work has been accomplished in other lines. Women's clubs have led in the movement for clean streets, for better side-walks, for better sanitary conditions, a pure water supply, modern school buildings, better schools, pure milk and food supplies, honest measures, public libraries or library extension, art exhibits, music festivals, the beautifying of cemeteries, the planting of trees, in parks and public places, the distribution of flower seeds, with prizes for well kept lawns and back yards, the opening of play-grounds and vacation schools, establishing rest rooms for working girls, aiding juvenile and probation court work, the sale of Red Cross stamps to aid in stamping out tuberculosis, manual training and domestic science for schools, settlement work among the poor, clubs to enlarge the life of country women, and many purely local matters.

Mrs. Grace Julian Clark, the president has had unusual training in being the constant companion and aid of her father, who was statesman, diplomat, and scholar. Mrs. Clark presides over this large gathering of women and dominates the whole with her personality.

Mrs. O. P. Kinsey, the first president of the Federation, has taken a conspicuous place in the general women's club movement.

Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon has consecrated her life to securing better homes for the poor, in driving out and preventing slums. She portrays in impassioned language, conditions scarcely to be dreamed of in this rich agricultural community, and says to the literary clubs, "Lay aside your Dante, and come and see the real Inferno in your own cities and towns."

Mrs. O. F. Guidlin, of Fort Wayne, is eloquent in behalf of household economics and she inspires her hearers with her own enthusiasm, for a more intelligent, scientific grasp of household problems by women.

Mrs. Virgil H. Lockwood makes a stirring appeal for the children who are sent out to battle with life, and to take up its burdens, its dangers, and its temptations when they are scarcely out of the cradle.

Mrs. F. T. McWhirter, whose work for temperance is well known, has established Parent Teacher clubs all over the state, and between parent and child, and parent and teacher.

Miss Vida Newsom is leading the work of establishing playgrounds, where the child of the streets is given his chance for health, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

The list of capable women who will be heard in reports of their committee is a long one, and in addition there is a noteworthy list of prominent speakers from other states.

Miss Zene Gale, author of "Friendship Village," and chairman of the Civics Department of The Wisconsin Federation, will give readings of unusual merit. Mrs. Frances Squire Potter will speak of the Drama League.

Miss Helen Varick Boswell, who investigated social conditions in Panama, will speak on "The Woman's Club as a Molder of Public Opinion."

Mrs. Agnes McGiffert Bailey will tell of the formation of Junior Civic Leagues among children, designed to lead to interest in good citizenship.

Miss Kate Gordon, of New Orleans, Vice-President of The National Suffrage Association, will talk of woman's position under the law.

Supt. Wirt, of the Gary schools, whose work was portrayed in the July Hampton, will tell his personal experiences in making Americans out of the lower foreign element.

There are only a few of the treats that the State Federation has in store for those who attend its sessions, and it is to be hoped that club women all over the state avail themselves of its benefits.

Cascarets Cleanse Liver and Bowels

No Biliousness, Headache, Sick, Sour
Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give you a thorough cleansing inside and will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

EAT APPLES EVERY DAY AND BE HEALTHY IS ADVICE.

Do you know what you are eating when you eat an apple? No, not the sorts and varieties of worms, for there will be no worms if you have bought your fruit from an orchardist who sprays his trees, but the food qualities, the tissue builders, the brain makers?

You are eating malic acid, the property that makes buttermilk healthful. You are eating galic acid, one of the most necessary elements in human economy. You are eating sugar in its most assimilable form, combined carbon, hydrogen and oxygen caught and imprisoned from the sunshine. You are eating albumen in its most available state. You are eating a gum allied to the fragrant medical gums of Arabia. And you are eating phosphorus in the only form in which it is available as the source of all brain and nerve energy.

In addition to all these you are drinking the purest of water and eating the most healthful and desirable fibre for the required "roughness" in food elements.

The acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach and prevent and cure dyspepsia. They drive out the noxious matters that cause skin eruptions, and thus are nature's most glorious complexion makers. They neutralize in the blood the deleterious elements that poison the brain and make it sluggish.

The contained phosphorus is not only greater than in any other form of food, but it is presented in a shape for immediate use by the brain and nerves, where it may flash into great thoughts and great deeds.

The ancient assigned the apple as the food for the gods, and its juices as ambrosial nectar to which they resorted to renew their youth. Men are the gods of today, and the apple is their royal food, the magic renewer of youth.

Eat a rich, ripe apple every day and you have disarmed all diseases of half their terror.

TWO COLONELS LEAVE THE ARMY

Bailey and Taylor Were Noted as Indian Fighters.

BOTH WON BREVETS IN ACTION

Entered From Civil Life—Saw the Defeat of Several Hostile Tribes of Red Men and the Surrender of Fierce Chiefs.

Colonel Hobart K. Bailey, commander of the Twenty-ninth Infantry, and Colonel Sidney W. Taylor of the Second field artillery, both old Indian fighters, retired recently from active military duty. Colonel Bailey went on the retired list owing to his having reached the age limit. Colonel Taylor retired on his own application.

Colonel Bailey entered the military service in 1872 from civil life as a second lieutenant. He was assigned to the Fifth Infantry and remained with it until 1901, or almost twenty-nine years. In that time he became known for his bravery in action and his winning personality. When serving in the Fifth regiment and as aid to General Nelson A. Miles Colonel Bailey participated in lively Indian fighting.

He won his brevets of first lieutenant and captain for distinguished service in command of his company in an engagement with Cheyenne Indians on Nov. 8, 1874. In that engagement the camp of Gray Beard, chief of the Cheyennes, was on the north branch of McClellan creek. It was attacked, and the Indians were driven to the Staked Plains. Julia and Adelaide Germaine, two white girls, were rescued from the Indians in that engagement. Their parents had been killed in western Kansas.

Brigadier General Franklin D. Baldwin, retired, a first lieutenant in the Fifth Infantry, was in command of the detachment that made the attack and the rescue. He received a medal of honor. In 1874 and 1875 the regiment pursued the Southern Cheyennes, and in March, 1875, the Indians and their chief, Stone Calf, surrendered. The regiment was sent to the department of Dakota after the Custer massacre and established Fort Keogh at the mouth of Tongue river, in Montana. After twelve years of service against the Indians the Fifth regiment on June 1, 1888, went to Texas. Bailey in 1892 won his captaincy. That was followed by service in Cuba and in the Philippines. He became lieutenant colonel of the Twenty-fifth Infantry in 1903, won his rank as colonel in 1907 and was assigned to the Twenty-fifth Infantry.

Colonel Taylor also entered the service from civil life. As a second lieutenant he was assigned to the Fourth Infantry in 1867. In 1873 he participated in the Modoc war, in which four officers of the regiment were killed and thirty-two men were killed or wounded. Until October, 1873, Taylor remained in Fort Klamath, Ore., guarding the captured Modocs, and when the Indians were put to death he and his company were present. For brave conduct in that war Taylor was made a captain. In 1876 and 1877 he served against the Sioux. It was a winter campaign, in which the mercury fell to 40 degrees below zero. That was followed by service against the Nez Percés under Chief Joseph and the Apaches. He became a colonel in the artillery corps in 1905.

BUILT TEN ROOM HOUSE WITH HIS OWN HANDS.

Beeson Dug Up All the Material, Except the Concrete, From His Ranch.

A concrete house on the Beeson ranch, just south of Dodge City, was one of the show places of western Kansas the past summer. Nearly every guest in the city was taken to see the house and to hear the tale about how it came to be there.

The best part of the story is that the material used, except the lumber and the concrete, was taken from the ranch upon which it stands and that all the labor in constructing it was performed by the owner, Merritt Beeson.

Merritt is the son of Chalk Beeson, the "fiddling statesman." Young Beeson made a livelihood for twelve years blowing a cornet in park bands and theater orchestras. Failing health took him back to the ranch three years ago.

A short time after his return he met a girl, and soon they were considering plans for the wedding.

"But we ought to have a home," the girl said one day. "Suppose you build us one out on the east section of the ranch."

After the wedding the house proposition came up again, and the young man had to get to work. He drew the plans himself and bought the concrete. That was all he needed to buy. The sand was taken from a creek bed on the ranch. He made his own block machine and roofing tile machine. The rest was labor. He furnished that himself.

scription. They dig and burrow into the very nooks and corners of their homes and ferret out the filth. They are beginning now on the cities, and God speed their efforts. Man has had sway in this particular field so long that he thinks he can "let things slide," but look out for the women when she gets started, she will show some one up.

Development in both home and city is the natural inclination of every home and the time to let men do most of the work and take all of the credit for obvious endeavors is past. Administering to the sick and ailing humans was woman's first realm. She has now included another that takes in the city, the county, the state and the country in which she lives. Woman now has a part—a most vital part—in the community development of today.

Not six months ago in a certain town not far from this city, a group of worthy citizens sat in a back office and gloomily surveyed each other while the rain poured down without. It was because these men were vitally interested in the welfare of their community that they had gathered together on this rainy day. They had tried their hand at community development and had failed according to their standards of success and failure. They had just completed a carnival week in the village, and an outsider would have testified that their work had been complete.

"We have pulled a bigger crowd into town in the last week than we ever did," one man said abruptly, "and the stores have done a thriving business. But look at the village now. We are right back here where we started from. Some of the merchants were a little bit wealthier than they were. We all had a good time—but the town remains where it was before the celebration. Gentlemen, we aren't systematic robbers! We started out to develop this little community of ours—not our pocket books—all at once. Now what are we going to do?"

A dead silence was finally broken by a man who was noted for being very much married.

"My wife," he began—and quietly disregarded the slight smiles that appeared on the lips of the circle—"My wife says that the women in town have formed themselves into an improvement league of some sort and that they are going to show us how to boom this town and do it right."

"It's a good plan," agreed one of the men shortly, "and I for one am willing to help them to the limit. We've had our try; now we'll let the women do the work."

There was the start of the biggest house cleaning day that ever struck Centerville. The women started in on their work in a systematic way. They obtained some money by a subscription plan, and the local merchants were shrewd enough to realize that their donation to the cause was direct advertising of a kind that "stuck." They paid up liberally. A fund was started and the Centerville Improvement league started to name committees in a manner that dazed the staid old-timers and the professional town boosters. The first committee was called "A Committee on the Moving Picture Theater," and was, in reality the scrubbing party of the "city cleaners." Next was a committee on trees, then a committee on the library, a committee for everything that possibly could have originated in the minds of men. But there was a reason for them all. In the first place, the women had planned their campaign thoroughly.

If this town has places in it where children should not be allowed, then those places must be closed. If children can't come to this town in safety, then their parents won't, and as a result the town won't grow. It was a laborious conclusion, but it was well based. That decision called for the moving picture theater committee.

Three young women went to the theater every night for a week. Then they made their report:

"The pictures are not fit for any one—much less children."

"We can't buy the theater," one of the women said, "but, can start a rival place." And every woman present shut her teeth resolutely.

Then came the report of the library committee, and a brief report it was:

"On an average only twenty books are taken from our $15,000 library each week."

There it was. It told the story of what little interest there was in civic institutions in the villages.

"It's a poor investment," said one woman. Why don't they use the library more?"

Somewhere, 'way off in a distant city, was a woman who made it her business to find out why public libraries were not patronized. The Centerville Improvement league sent her a telegram that night and she arrived a few days later. She wore heavy glasses. She said little. For a week she nosed around in the public library, watching the children and the adults who occasionally dropped in for a book. At the end of that time she tersely remarked to one of the library committee:

Two-thirds of your town don't know you have a library. And half of the other third don't realize what fine books you have. Let the people know what there is in the library."

And with that she packed her satchel and departed.

The Improvement league held a meeting. Most of the women wore their sleeves rolled up and their faces were set as if they were about to tear up the back-stair carpet in their own homes.

"We can kill two birds with one stone," said one woman. "We will buy a moving picture machine and establish our theater right in the library three nights each week. When we get through with that the people will have a chance to see some decent moving pictures and will also discover that we have a few books on the library shelves at any rate."

And they did it. Today there isn't a picture show in that town that isn't clean and decent. The library is well patronized. And the women performed the service.

But the tree committee had to bring in its report.

"We want every tree along every street in town clipped to within twelve feet of the ground," they told the league. There are too many stretches of dark sidewalk. We will do away with petty hold-ups and disagreeable moments with irresponsible men. A woman will be as safe on the streets at night as in bright daylight."

Bringing the story home—what can the women of Rushville do to make the town better?

THE MAPLE GROVE.

The following was written for the Daily Republican by a former Noble township school teacher, who is now in Alexandria:

The Maples are felled, farewell to the shade
And the whispering sound of the cool colonnade;

The winds play no longer and sing in the leaves,
Nor Flatrock on his bosom their image receives.

Fifty years have elapsed since I last took a view
Of my favorite Maples, and the banks where they grew.

And now in the grass behold they are laid,
And the tree is my seat that once lent me shade.

The school fellows have fled to another retreat—
Where their homes afford them a pleasure replete,

And the scene where their melody charmed me before
Resounds with their sweet flowing warble no more.

My fugitive years are fast hasting away—away—
And I must ere long lie as lowly as they,

With a turf on my breast and a stone at my head,
Ere another such grove shall rise in its stead.

RUSSIAN PLANS OCEAN TERROR

New Submarine Cruiser Will Have Twenty-five Knots Speed.

TO CARRY 30 TORPEDO TUBES.

Apparatus With Which She Is Fitted
Will Enable Her to Sink in Three Minutes—Of Great Value For Blockade Work.

A submarine cruiser 400 feet long and displacing when submerged 5,435 tons has been designed by a Russian naval engineer named Shuravieff. The designs are now being considered by the Russian government.

No submarine vessel yet built has a displacement of more than 700 tons, and the 1,000 ton mark is just being reached in this country and in Germany with vessels laid down this year.

M. Shuravieff's design is really for a protected cruiser which can be submerged when required. When steaming on the surface its displacement would be 4,500 tons, while engines capable of developing a maximum horsepower of 18,000 would give an estimated speed of 25 knots.

The apparatus with which the vessel is fitted in the designs would enable her to sink in three minutes, and when below the surface internal combustion motors of 4,400 horsepower would give a maximum speed of 14 knots. The fastest submarines yet built are the British vessels of the D class, which can make 16 knots on the surface and 9 when submerged.

Thirty Torpedo Tubes.

The submarine cruiser will be equipped with five 4.7-inch guns so mounted that when the ship is about to descend they can easily be stowed away below decks. The vessel will also have the unprecedented armament of thirty torpedo tubes, all of which will, of course, be available in either the surface or submerged conditions.

Hitherto the greatest number of torpedo tubes mounted in submarines is seven, this number being carried by the French Archimede, Charles Brun and Admiral Bourgois. No British boats have more than three and most only two.

The Shuravieff submarine cruiser will also be furnished with 120 submarine mines, which she will be able to lay in the form of a field without coming to the surface at all.

The value of the boat for blockade work, should she be adopted and prove successful, would be enormous, since she would be able to get into harbor unseen, discharge sixty torpedoes at the vessels inside, two torpedoes being carried for each tube, and then lay a string of mines across the mouth of the harbor.

A deck of armor would cover the machinery and other vital parts of the cruiser, the total weight of armor used being 337 tons.

PANAMA CANAL HAS REACHED ITS FULL WIDTH.

Five and One-half Miles of the Big Ditch Extended to 500 Feet.

The Panama canal has just been extended to its full width and about half of its complete depth at the Atlantic entrance. Here the bottom of the waterway will be 500 feet wide and the depth will be forty-one feet. From deep water as far inland as the old French canal, or about five and a half miles, the entrance has been widened to the required 500 feet, and a depth of at least twenty feet has been reached over this distance. A fleet of dredges is now clawing away at the bed rock to excavate the remaining twenty-one feet. This width of 500 feet and depth of forty-one feet ultimately will extend from deep water to the Gatun locks, a distance of seven miles. The minimum width of the canal will be 300 feet in Culebra cut and the maximum width 1,000 feet in Gatun lake. The usable width of the locks of the canal, however, will be only 110 feet.

With every disposition to encourage the investment of capital in the development of the isthmus of Panama, the government is resolved that it will not permit the issue of concessions by the Panama congress that will in any degree threaten the business of the canal. Attention has been drawn to the subject recently by the passage of a law in Panama granting a concession to a company to construct a railroad entering the city of Panama from a mining country to the southward. It has been alleged that the concession is so drawn as to permit the construction of extension of lines of road that might cross the isthmus and so prove to be an active competitor for business with the canal. There is already a project under way for the construction of a railroad entering Panama from David on the north, but this is regarded as desirable because it will form part of the great intercontinental railway system to be developed, of which the United States is committed. If it can be shown that the projected southern road can be likewise made available as part of this system and that it cannot be turned into a cross-road between the Caribbean and the Pacific, it is probable that the state department will make no objection to the concession. A careful inquiry is being made to ascertain the facts.

WOMEN WOES

Rushville Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Sick kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and much suffering is saved. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 W. 4th street, Rushville, Ind., says: "For some time I suffered from a weak and painful back and I was also subject to headaches. I had but little energy and the simplest of my household duties was a burden. My husband finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills for me at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store and since taking them, my condition has been better in every way. I am grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for their good work."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NIKOLA TESLA HAS A NEW INVENTION.

Electrical Journal Says He Can Easily Transmit Great Energy.

A new development of a mechanical principle upon which Nikola Tesla is said to have been laboring for some years is described in the Electrical Review. This latest development in mechanics for which so much is claimed by friends of the inventor is based on the adhesion and viscosity of liquids and gases and is said to afford a novel means of generating and transmitting mechanical power.

Dr. Tesla is very optimistic about the results of his long experimentation, but will not discuss the matter for publication. He expressed surprise that any one had heard of his latest work before the appearance of his account of it in the electrical publication.

"The efficiency of the machines Dr. Tesla has constructed on this principle," the Electrical Review says, "is evidenced by their remarkable performance, small turbines or rotary engines being run at a peripheral speed scarcely more than half of that of reaction turbines and giving several times the output of the latter."

The article describes a small steam turbine recently exhibited in New York "having a motor only nine and three-quarter inches in diameter and two inches wide," which is said to be capable of developing 110 horsepower with free exhaust. This machine, it is further stated, has no blades, vanes, valves or sliding contacts of any kind.

"On account of the great simplicity of the apparatus, reversibility and extraordinary output," the article continues, "it will undoubtedly find an immense variety of uses, and the commercial world cannot fail to be deeply interested in this new development. The electrical industry in particular should be greatly benefited by this latest effort of Dr. Tesla."

Mr. Taft has sent a roll top desk as a gift to the sultan of Oman, though a breech-blunt might be a more fitting present.

When the fans heard the tenor soloist sing about "this terrestrial ball" in old "Coronation," they remarked that the singer had made a wild pitch.

In view of the difficulty of getting jurors as manifested in the McNamara trial, why not require all the judges and lawyers to take their turns?

Rev. Cortland Meyers says Boston is Gomorrah, and Rev. Herbert Johnson says it is Sodom, but there is a general agreement that New York is a Jerusalem.

Plowing matches are popular in rural Illinois, but no member of the 400 will lower himself by touching an implement that is useful in supporting human life.

Woodrow Wilson says liquor has no place in politics, but anyone who ever observed the crowd at a convention knows that it fills a very wide place in the politicians.

What will the courts say when the heads of the four tobacco companies get together over the wine and the walnuts at the Waldorf-Astoria, and agree on a uniform price list for separate companies?

The Hall of Fame directors had been thinking of putting John Marshall Harlan in a vacant niche, but now that John Franklin Baker has put up a home run over the right field wall, he is clearly entitled to the place.

Some people think Mr. Taft should stay at home and not take chances on such affairs as the Southern Pacific dynamite outrage. But anyway when he gets away from Washington he escapes the danger of catching the sleeping sickness from the office holders.

We shall probably be accused of "pea-nut politics" for mentioning it, but we observe that the wife of Governor Marshall is accused of buying her hats in Chicago, says the Huntington Herald. Seems to us if she really appreciated the fact that the governor got his votes in Indiana Mrs. Marshall would have seen the propriety of doing her trading this side of the Indiana-Illinois line.

We are led to infer from the squeals that emanate from the office of the Knightstown Banner that the editor must have been a candidate once for the Knightstown postmaster's job although we do not know such to be the case. "Speaking for the public, we honestly believe, etc.," says the editor. We wonder if the dear public called on him to speak.

The Richmond Palladium says Saturday the charge of the Indianapolis Star that the platform adopted by the progressives at their meeting in Chicago recently did not urge tariff revision and hence that the progressives have abandoned their fight along that line "is so silly as scarcely to merit recognition by refusing it" and then devotes over two columns of valuable space in attacking the Star for drawing the conclusion that it did.

Now comes one Governor Thomas R. Marshall and blames the reporter on a Chicago paper for the story which came from Chicago that Mrs. Marshall was replenishing her wardrobe while on a visit with her husband in the "windy city." Says the governor: "The first time she went out after coming back all the women she met asked if the dress she was wearing came from Chicago. She was compelled to say no and is now wondering what her friends will think became of all the fine gowns the paper said she was buying there."

And why was she compelled to say no if yes was the right answer?

The charge of the captain of the local Salvation Army corps that there is more sin, unbelievers and poverty stricken people in this city according to its size than any other town in the State, is wholly unwarranted and uncalled for. We might be willing to accept the verdict of the local captain if he were qualified to make such an assertion. But when the fact is taken into consideration that he has been in the city only two months and has been in few other cities of this size in the State long enough to be acquainted with the real conditions, the accusation is rather inopportune and hasty. That Rushville is as black as he has painted it has never been discovered by most people in Rushville who have spent their lives here and police court records and the conditions as they have been found by local charity workers would not warrant such an assertion.

Every editor who finds a zest in his work realizes that the task of making the so-called "reading matter" in a newspaper as interesting as are the advertisements is not a small one.

The editor assembles his news matter, and features, and opinions—and feels that the whole forms a sane picture of the foibles and strivings and "doings" of the people since his last issue. He knows that some of these little histories will entertain his readers—that some will shock them, some amuse, some enthrall, some sadden, some arouse their indignation.

But he knows that the advertisements in the paper contain news that has a personal, dollar-and-cents significance to his readers. He realizes that the advertisers, who can show a prospective buyer how to save a dollar, has a closer hearing—and, if he is the right sort of editor, he is glad that it is so—glad that the paper he helps to make is a paper rendering such valuable and undeniable SERVICE to its readers.

Strange isn't it that whiskey will preserve most anything but a man's brains?

"Henry M. Moberly, president of the Shelby County Fair Association, was kicked by a horse near the noon hour today," says a Shelbyville paper. We would take that to be his stomach.

No doubt you will have noted with all due care that it did not snow the afternoon of the nineteenth as was forecasted by this column. Of course, you all thought that we made the procrastination just to act smart but we did it merely to teach you not to pay any attention to our predictions. You should have learned long ago that anything this column prophesies is strictly to the persimmon and is not to be given any consideration whatever.

However, we would like for you to keep on reading it. Our household hits each day are considered the best slush yet.

As a suitable one today we suggest that women with pink wall paper never buy a yellow table cover and mar the color scheme.

We read in one daily paper that "the water was standing in the street and refused to run away." How careless of that water!

And it is not mentioned whether it would run away when Kel. got after it.

Some folks think that the State treasurer is writing home for money right often.

We presume that if you bet it would snow Oct. 19, taking a tip from this column, that the other fellow smoked.

Earnest Bunyard, Living North of Glenwood, Files Affidavit
Against Joseph Whitten.

WHO WAS HIS HIRED HAND

Whitten is Wanted For Obtaining Money and Goods on False Pretense—Fake Story.

Earnest Bunyard, living five miles north of Glenwood, was swindled out of forty dollars in money last week by his farm hand, Joseph Whitten by a story of deception and fraud and Bunyard has filed an affidavit against Whitten in Connersville for obtaining goods and money under false pretense.

Bunyard says that Whitten wrote a letter to Judge Hacker of the Bartholomew circuit court at Columbus, asking for particulars concerning the estate of his grandmother, a part of which he thought was due him. In a few days Whitten received a letter from the judge in which the court said that he must come with his employer to Columbus and settle the estate.

Before they made the trip to Columbus together, according to Bunyard, he went to Connersville and purchased a complete outfit of wearing apparel for Whitten at a cost of about forty dollars. When the two men arrived in Columbus, Whitten told Bunyard that he would like to see his aunt for a few minutes and that he would return shortly. That was the last ever seen of Whitten by Bunyard.

After waiting some time Bunyard went to Judge Hacker and found that he had received such a letter from Whitten. Besides buying the clothes for Whitten, Bunyard purchased tickets for himself and Whitten to Columbus and back and loaned him some money. Bunyard says that Whitten is a "dope" fiend.

The name of Joseph Whitten was confused with that of "Kid" Whitten who once lived in this city and who later operated a saloon in Connersville. That is explained by the following from the Connersville News:

The police now say this is not the man known as "Kid" Whitten, who ran a saloon here. Joseph Whitten is about 50 years old. He came to the vicinity of Mr. Bunyard's home several months ago and followed itinerant buggy painting though Mr. Bunyard knew him only a few weeks.

He describes him as fairly educated, a slick talker and a fluent letter writer. With a good suit of clothes such as he now has, unless he has pawned them, Mr. Bunyard regards Whitten as a dangerous man to be abroad.

For this reason his business here Saturday was to take steps toward his arrest. A printed description of the man has been prepared and sent abroad to police and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest. If caught he will likely be brought here as the crime of obtaining goods and money on false pretense—on the strength of a forged letter, was committed in this county.

Mr. Bunyard learned, while at Columbus that Whitten did once get a small share of an estate but soon spent it. His only relative in Columbus is a half aunt, Mr. Whitten says. His reputation there is such, he said, that he was not likely to stay.

Christian Church is Postponed.

Due to the fact that two or three Christian church pastors of the county are not at home at present, the proposed meeting which was to have been held at the Main Street Christian church today to make plans to launch a missionary campaign, did not materialize. It was planned that everyone of the sixteen Christian churches in the county be represented at the meeting today. The date for the meeting is indefinite as was said by the Rev. Cyrus Yocum this afternoon.

DIDN'T RUN AWAY.

Greensburg News: Miss Josephine Hagle denies that she ran away from her home in this city, claiming that she merely went to Rushville on a visit to her aunt. She admits to leaving without the knowledge of her parents, and says that it is true that the Rushville police sent her home, though when she left here she believed that her aunt would notify her parents where she was.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

Saturday the Band of Workers of the First Presbyterian church held a rummage sale in the vacant room next to the Windsor. They cleared a neat sum above all expenses but they were so anxious to get "stock" that they would almost sell clothes off the backs of their own members.

Members of the society who were assisting with the work were all warned not to leave any of their own wearing apparel lying around for fear it might be sold for a nominal sum by the over zealous saleswomen. But the inevitable happened.

Mrs. J. R. Carmichael forgot the warning given all the members, so busy was she counting the cash. She laid her suit coat on a pile of the "stock" and neglected to take it to the back room and lock it up where all of the clothes of the other members were concealed under lock and key so that they would not be disposed of.

It was not long after Mrs. Carmichael left her coat that a customer happened in. My, how she did admire that coat! The woman who was acting as clerk in that case pointed out the excellent qualities of this wonderful black suit coat. She showed that it was not worn in the least, that the lining was in perfect condition and that the goods had a beautiful black luster. That looked pretty good to the customer and she laid down a whole quarter for the coat.

Fortunately the customer did not want the coat just then and it was wrapped up and left in the room. Presently Mrs. Carmichael began to look for her coat. She ransacked the apartment for the clerk's wearing apparel but her coat was not revealed. She searched the "stock" and still no coat.

Then the clerk who sold that wonderful black suit coat for a quarter had a happy thought. Perhaps that bargain was Mrs. Carmichael's coat. She searched for the bundle and found it. The coat was Mrs. Carmichael's and the high tension was relieved.

HUNTERS FEEL CALL OF WILD

Watch Sky at Dawn and Dusk in Hopes of Seeing Flock of Wild Ducks.

MANY EXPERTS IN THIS CITY

Failure of Frost to Arrive Keeps
Them in North—Cold Enough to Migrate.

The duck hunters are beginning to feel the call of the wild. They are watching the sky at dawn and dusk in hopes of seeing a flock of the wild birds on its way south. One hunter said that when he awakened Thursday morning he thought he heard the call of ducks and jumping from his bed rushed to the window in hopes of seeing a flock of the birds. He was disappointed, however, and returned to bed some minutes later half frozen.

This hunter claims that it is cold enough for the ducks to be headed southward, but that the failure of frost to arrive is keeping them in the north. He expects them to be along soon and hopes to have wild game meat on his table when they begin passing this way.

There are a number of expert hunters in Rushville and many more of the amateur class. Annually a number of these go to the marshes in the northern part of the state to shoot. Many are lucky and return with a large number of ducks.

Thirty years ago no one thought of going north to kill ducks. There were plenty to be had here in Rushville every spring and fall. Great flocks of the birds would fly over the city. Residents would keep a shot gun loaded and sitting in a handy place, and when the flocks would fly over the city, would fire into them. It was seldom necessary to go to the river or other watering places to shoot the birds.

But that is all changed now. Ducks are scarce and hard to get. One does not often get a shot at them here without wandering along the banks of the river. Often one must walk to the marshes. In the last two years shooting there has not been as fruitful as prior to that. The great flocks of the birds are being thinned and the gunner is experiencing more trouble in bringing them down.

Guns are being taken from their cases, cleaned, wiped and oiled in preparation for the trip that is not far distant now. A few of the sportsmen are planning to go to Arkansas and spend two or three weeks.

CHILD WOULD NOT EAT

Constant Cough Weakened Him.

A healthy child ought to be "hungry as a bear" at meal time. Poor appetite means failing health.

The best thing you can do for a child that won't eat is to give teaspoonful doses of Vinol. This is wonderfully good in bringing back lost appetite and it is so pleasant that children take it eagerly.

Mrs. E. Stanger of Bronx Borough, N. Y., says: "My little son, three years old, had bronchitis for a year. The cough disturbed his rest and he lost his appetite."

"I gave him Vinol for a while and it stopped his coughing and brought back his appetite. His health has improved wonderfully. He likes Vinol."

It is the tonic iron and strengthening cod liver elements in Vinol (it contains no oil), that makes it so strengthening and blood-enriching. makes weak, pale children strong and rosy, and we guarantee it to do exactly what we tell you—if it does not you get your money back. Boys' State Judging Contest

By J. D. HARPER
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

The boys' judging contest, which was held at the state fair grounds September 5, 1911, was one of the worthy features of the fair. The contest was open to boys sixteen to nineteen years old who had never taken work in any school of agriculture and who had never won a premium in a state fair contest. The boys who participated were: Arthur Thompson, Marion; M. H. Overton, Martinsville; Loyal Rector, Fillmore; P. R. Bausman, Dayton; E. G. Brown, Martinsville; John A. Craft, Kingsbury; Gilbert A. Schwank, West Point; Edward Frazee, Glenwood; George W. Vail, McCordsville; Guy Johnson, Summitville; Byron Traster, Fairmount, and Verl Clouse, Hope, Ind.

The state board of agriculture has realized the value of this work for some time and this year they have given as premiums four scholarships in Purdue University School of Agriculture. The scholarships amount to $100, $75, $50 and $25 respectively. The boys who won these prizes were required to judge classes of draft geldings, Angus bulls, Holstein heifers, Poland China sows, and Hampshire rams; besides exhibits of white corn, yellow corn and wheat.

The standings of the winners out of a possible 800 per cent. were: First prize, P. R. Bausman, Dayton, 589 per cent.; second prize, John A. Craft, Kingsbury, 563 per cent.; third prize, George W. Vail, McCordsville, 561 per cent., and fourth prize, Verl R. Clouse, Hope, 560 per cent.

The contests were conducted by D. O. Thompson and H. E. Allen of the animal husbandry department, and C. O. Cromer of the soils and crops department of Purdue University School of Agriculture and Experiment Station. The superintendents and judges in the various departments co-operated thoroughly to make this event of full value to the boys.

The value of the contest lies largely in the interest and inspiration for good live stock which close contact with some of the best stock at the state fair gives the boys who participate. The state board is to be commended for promoting a good cause in this way, by providing this means whereby boys from the farms of the state are permitted to enter the judging arena and make a close study of the prize-winning animals of the fair.

The boys who have won these prizes are to be congratulated for the excellent start which they have made. It is to be hoped that they will enter the Purdue School of Agriculture and avail themselves of the opportunities at their command. By graduating with four years' training in agriculture they will be more capable of serving the agricultural interests of the state and will be more fully prepared for citizenship.

Value of Hoppers in Poultry Feeding

By A. G. PHILLIPS, Associate in Poultry Husbandry, Purdue Experiment Station
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

1—Dry Mash Hopper for Hens. 2—Grit Hopper. 3—Dry Mash Hopper for Chicks.

The poultry feed hopper as known today is a receptacle for holding feed that will allow fowls free access to it whenever they so desire. The more improved ones have devices for controlling the flow of feed and have cut-offs for keeping rats out.

The hopper is in many ways a new thing, but is about the only means of handling dry mash feeding. Experiment stations have developed, improved, tested and recommended it, until it is now pretty well known throughout the country.

There are all kinds of feed hoppers, most of which are practical, and yet there is not one on the market that has not some fault. If it fulfills all the requirements desired, then it is too expensive and if it is cheap it has some good quality lacking.

One of the main problems of the poultry business is that of labor. Any practical device that will be efficient and still reduce the labor, is always willingly tried. The use of hoppers has reduced the labor of feeding, a large per cent. Many practical poultrymen simply fill the hoppers once a week and no other time is spent with them.

Grain and meal is never mixed in a hopper, because some fowls have desires different from others, and will pick out what grain they want and waste the rest.

Experiments have proved that a wet mash is a little more forcing than a dry mash, but produces less fertile eggs. This is regardless of the question of labor. In order to feed a wet mash, a mixing and a feeding vessel must both be available. If too much is fed, there is a waste that cannot again be used. There is also the necessity of care in keeping the vessels clean. There is no easier way to carry disease than by means of wet feed or drinking water, so to prevent this, additional labor is required.

If a breeder has Plymouth Rocks or some breed which becomes fat easily, it is the easiest thing on earth to prevent, and yet allow plenty of feed, by means of a hopper. As was stated above, the only way to handle the dry mash is by means of a hopper. Nearly all meals, with the exception of corn meal, contains less fat producing elements than do the grains. If it is necessary to prevent over fattening, it certainly seems reasonable to increase the dry mash and reduce the grain or fat forming elements. With this kind of a problem the hopper is indispensable.

No combination of grains can be made which will make a ration that is properly balanced for laying hens. A grain ration is too fattening and therefore something else must be added to it. Feeds, such as bran, shorts, beef scraps, etc., are best to use, and these can best be handled in a hopper.

One of the most practical methods now in use for feeding medium-sized chicks is to fill one hopper with a mixture of grain, and another with dry mash, allowing the chicks free access to it at all times.

Experience has taught the most practical poultry feeder that the above-mentioned facts make it compulsory for him to use hoppers when keeping poultry.

TRAINMEN NOW JOIN SHOPMEN

Further Attempt to Tie Up
Harriman Lines.

DATE IS SET FOR NOVEMBER 1

On That Date the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors Will Go Out in Sympathy With Demands of Shopmen, and Telegraphers and Enginemen Are Voting on the Same Question.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 23.—With the crafts of shop men now on strike the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors on the Harriman lines have voted to go on strike. Notice will be served soon on the railway officials, and it is expected the date will be set for Nov. 1. Three other organizations, the Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen and the Order of Telegraphers, are now voting on the same thing, and it is thought all will join with the shop men unless the latter's grievances are met by the company. It is understood these five orders of trainmen contemplate a federation similar to the shop crafts and were preparing to ask the company to recognize the trainmen's federation in the making of new agreements which expire on Nov. 1. Failure of the shop crafts to establish a federation on the Harriman lines would mean failure for the trainmen's federation, but the leaders say that a strike of the ten unions would tie up the Harriman system from New Orleans to San Francisco.

There are about 6,000 men in the trainmen's unions on the Texas lines and lines from here to California. It was anticipated that the shop men's strike would have been settled before Nov. 1, when the trainmen were to demand the terms and conditions jointly which meant recognition of their federation. It is said the vote of the engineers, firemen and telegraphers appears favorable to joining the conductors and other orders.

Long Strike Declared Off.

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 23.—Leaders among the striking car men of the Chicago & Alton railway have accepted the recent offer of the company to take back sixty men at once and others as rapidly as places can be made for them, and the strike was declared off. Three hundred men have been out since June.

FAVORS THE RECALL

Illinois Federation of Labor Puts Itself on Record.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23.—The Illinois State Federation of Labor is in favor of the initiative and referendum, and also demands the recall, including the judiciary, and fixing the recall at not more than 25 per cent. The resolution was adopted at the closing meeting of the state body. The legislative committee of the federation is instructed to co-operate with the Illinois Initiative and Referendum League. Senate joint resolution 15, which provides that a bill may be initiated by petition of 8 per cent of the voters, was also approved.

Malta, Oct. 23.—The Italians apparently have something to conceal regarding Dengazi, as suddenly a stringent embargo has been placed on all news. It is certain that there was quite unexpected resistance, the Italians for a time having to fight with their backs to the sea, which was so rough as to preclude communication with the ships off shore.

AN OKLAHOMA TOWN FEARS A RACE RIOT

Bloody Battle Followed Gross
Insult to Woman.

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 23.—City Attorney D. J. Beavers of Coweta, Okla., and a graduate of Stanford university, California, was shot through the head and instantly killed; Steeler Thompson and Carmen Oliver, two other white men, were shot through the body and may die, and Ed Suddeth, a negro, who shot the three white men, was lynched, and Ed Ruse, a negro, was shot in a race riot at Coweta, Okla., twenty miles northwest of here, late Sunday afternoon as a result of a negro pushing a white woman off the sidewalk.

Following the riots and shooting, a mob of white men placed a rope around the neck of Ed Suddeth, the negro who did the shooting, and strung him to a water tank. While he was dangling alive in the air, cooler heads induced the mob to cut him down on the promise that he would be legally hanged within thirty days. Deputy Sheriff Fowler started to take Suddeth to Wagoner, the county seat, in an automobile. As he drove through Coweta's main street his automobile was stopped by the mob. The officer was dragged from the car into the crowd and the negro was riddled with bullets, about fifty shots being fired into his body.

The white people of Coweta are alarmed for fear an attack will be made on the town by negroes of the surrounding country. A negro woman who started to spread the news of the riots among the country negroes was caught three miles from town and brought back and locked up. Country negroes are reported coming into the town. All the 500 negroes living in Coweta are armed and surly. Company F of the state militia, stationed at Muskogee, has been ordered to Coweta by District Judge R. C. Allen.

The entire force of freight and yard clerks in the employ of the Illinois Central railroad at Cairo, Ill., is on strike.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom That Should Not Be Disregarded.

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, heaviest, and healthiest persons are moderate eaters.

There is nothing that will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge all in Rushville who suffer from any stomach derangement, indigestion, or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They give very prompt relief, aiding to neutralize the gastric juices, strengthen the digestive organs, to regulate the bowels, and thus to promote perfect nutrition, and eradicate all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25c. box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days' treatment. At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases length of treatment varies. For such cases, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store.—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, Corner Third and Main.

IN POSITION TO HOLD THEM BACK

Chinese Revolutionists Again Score Over Troops.

CONTROL MOUNTAIN PASSES

A Second Decisive Engagement in Which the Republicans Are Reported Victorious Gives Them a Distinctive Advantage Over the Imperial Troops—All Chinese in This Country Loyal to the Revolution Ordered to Cut Queues Off.

Pekin, Oct. 23.—It is rumored that the emperor has left Peking, but the rumor is not confirmed. It is probably to be ascribed to the fact that the families of the numerous palace servants are going into the country and that the servants are asking to go. There is another unconfirmable rumor that the prince regent is dead. This probably is based on the fact that he has not attended meetings of the cabinet for the past two days.

Hongkong, Oct. 23.—Viceroy Chang Min Chi of Kwangtung province has issued an edict forbidding all newspapers to publish any reports of the revolution. People of Canton are greatly aroused at this measure. Viceroy Chang has taken extreme precautions and is an able leader. Inside the walls of the city are well fortified and the imperialists do not fear an uprising for some time.

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—"Big engagement yesterday between the revolutionary forces and the imperial army," says a cable from Shanghai received by the Chinese Free Press. Fifteen thousand revolutionists attacked army of General Yin Tehang in mountain pass at F'wangshui in mountain range between Hopoi and Honan, where General Yin had made headquarters. Imperial army defeated with great slaughter. Army retreated in rout for twenty miles north. All stores, artillery, guns and ammunition which General Yin had stored there were left behind and captured by revolutionists. In addition to a great victory for Commander-in-Chief Li Yung Huen, who led the rebel army, the rebels occupy Shagat district and control every mountain pass.

On the door of the imperial Chinese consulate here the Chinese revolutionist leaders have posted a proclamation calling on all Chinese loyal to the revolution to cut off their queues at once or they would not be known as revolutionists. It is understood that the notice was the result of instructions given by the leaders of the revolution in China. Ton Lui, who until a few months ago, was dean of the Commercial college at Hankow, says that reports of the massacre of thousands of Manchus at Hankow are impossible. He said:

"In the whole district surrounding Hankow there are not more than 100 Manchus, including men, women and children. In the imperial army, which fought against the revolutionists, there are perhaps perhaps a dozen or so leaders who are Manchus, all the rest being residents of various provinces. The story of the massacre must have been sent out by the imperial authorities to discredit the cause of the revolutionists."

PETITION DENIED

Chicago Labor Sluggers Cannot Be Admitted to Bail, Says High Court.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23.—Motion of the defendants for a writ of superdeas, so they might be admitted to bail pending appeal, was denied by the supreme court in the case of William Connors, Edward Storgaard, Peter Gentleman and Anthony O'Connor.

They were convicted of assault with intent to kill and murder Morgan H. Bell, it being alleged that at the point of revolvers they compelled Bell and other workmen employed on the building being constructed by the Hygienic Ice company in Chicago to quit work. A strike of union men against the building was on at the time.

Desperado Shot at Galesburg.

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 23.—It is believed that a robber gang which has been terrorizing merchants in surrounding towns for several months has been broken up by Deputy Sheriff Frank Hooker, who shot and probably fatally wounded Pete Melitis, one of their number. Melitis was trying to escape from officers following his capture.

Rodgers on His Way.

GOVERNOR VESSEY

South Dakota's Executive Host of President Taft at Pierre.

Pierre, S. D., Oct. 23.—The president came nearer to enjoying a real rest yesterday than he has on any Sunday of this trip. In the morning he attended services at the Methodist church as the guest of Governor Vessey, who was also host to Mr. Taft at luncheon. He then was taken for a seventy-mile automobile ride over the South Dakota prairie.

KANSAS CITY HAD REV. RICHESON FOR AWHILE

There He Engaged Himself to Three Girls.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 23.—From 1901 until 1904, the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, held in Boston on a charge of murdering Miss Avis Linnell, was pastor of the Bethel Baptist church here, when he resigned by request, following the sensational disclosures of three young women, each of whom accused him of being engaged to her.

A scandal was created among the congregation when the three women, two of them members of the church, made their accusations against the pastor at the close of one of his Sunday morning sermons.

The women all wept hysterically. Richeson was calm, said there must be some mistake, and left the church. Then he went to Liberty, Mo. The trustees wrote for his resignation.

Gives Up His Pastorate.

Boston, Oct. 23.—Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, charged with the murder of Miss Linnell, spent Sunday quietly in his cell in the Charles Street jail, reading the newspapers and his Bible. He has sent a formal resignation of his pastorate to the officers of Immanuel Baptist church.

A BRISK FIGHT NOW PROMISED

Dekalb County Wets and Drys Open Campaign.

SEVERAL POINTS DOUBTFUL

The County, Under the Operation of the Proctor Law, Automatically Will Become Wet the Last of November —The Drys, Not Relishing the Outlook, Will Fight the Old Battle Over Again.

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 23.—On Nov. 30 Dekalb county will become automatically wet. The local option majority at the election in November, 1909, gave the "drys" nearly 1,000 majority. There are fifteen townships in Dekalb, three cities and five towns. The contest between the wets and the drys centers in the cities and towns. The temperance people seem determined to hold on to what they won, and to this end meetings have been held in the three cities, Garrett, Auburn and Butler. The campaign has so far consisted of lectures and speeches intended to arouse enthusiasm. The fine work will be done after the elections are called. The plan agreed upon is to hold the elections in the different towns and cities on the same day. It is generally believed that Auburn, the county seat, will go dry and Butler will do about the same. The city of Garrett, where the B. & O. shops are located, is a debatable ground. Waterloo, one of the important towns, will be dry until 1913 by the action of a remonstrance filed last January. Couna and St. Joe are both dry by public sentiment. Ashley is on the doubtful list and Altona is also in the doubtful list. The townships that have no towns in them are all dry. The election will probably be held late in November.

COMPREHENSIVE EXHIBIT

Weatherly of Indiana university are among the speakers. The exhibit of the various state institutions will be a feature of the conference. The entire second floor of the statehouse will be utilized for this purpose. A number of special entertainments have been provided for the delegates and visitors. From present indications this will be the most successful meeting in the history of the conference.

INDIANAPOLIS HAS A DANGEROUS EPIDEMIC Spread of Diphtheria Causes Much Uneasiness.

Indianapolis, Oct. 23.—They cannot say, the health officers of this city confess, when the diphtheria epidemic is to be crushed out. Cultures taken from the throats of teachers and children in the public and parochial schools show that the disease is far from abating and the health authorities ordered parents to keep at home yesterday all children under sixteen years of age.

Very few of the Sunday school were open and those that held sessions had only adults in their classes. Orders have been issued for the closing of all theaters, picture shows and other places of amusement to children and in all schools where the cultures have showed signs of the disease precautions have been taken for the isolation of teachers and children affected.

More than a thousand cultures have been taken, and as a result of the examination of those in the bacteriological department, orders for quarantining have been sent into all parts of the city and whole families are being isolated to prevent further contagion.

Kerr was leaving the home of Miss Jackson with his companions who preceded him to the vehicle and were urging him to hasten. He remarked: "I am going now," and fired a shot through his forehead. Kerr was the son of a farmer of Hillsboro.

The honeymoon trip will be started as soon after the ceremony as the weather will permit.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23.—The appellate court decided that cities have power to compel telegraph companies and other corporations to pay a reasonable compensation to the city for the use of streets for poles. It affirmed the decision of the Sangamon circuit court in the case of the city of Springfield against the Postal Telegraph Cable company of Illinois.

GRAY'S CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD

Democrats of West End of the Sixth District Offer Congressman Rare Opportunity to Prove Worth.

SHELBYVILLE BACK OF IT

Test Will Show Whether Finly Gray Stands Well With His Party—Caucus Buster.

It appears that the west end of the Sixth district, on the Democratic side, is preparing to give Representative Finly Gray of Connersville a "fat chance" to make good, says the Sunday Star. Shelby county Democrats have gone to the front with a request that Mr. Gray land a Federal building for Shelbyville. This puts it up to Gray in more than one sense. There is a lot more in the proposition than a mere demand for the Federal building. It is suspected that the men who are asking Gray for the Federal building are convinced in advance that the representative will not be able to obtain any support in efforts he may make to land such a building.

It appears that the whole move is shrewdly intended to "show up" Mr. Gray's weaknesses. It is held by the men who oppose Gray at this time, in his own party, that Gray did not stick by the Democratic House caucus. What chance has a caucus-buster to get public buildings? What place on the big omnibus building bill can be found for the Democrats who balked when the caucus gave out instructions? There is just a chance that when Mr. Gray of the Sixth goes to Democrats up and down the Republic asking them to join in his Shelbyville public building plans, they will ask bluntly, "Wherefore?" It is intimated that under such circumstances the Democrats who believed in caucus cement and solidarity will pooh pooh Gray's project and blast his hopes by failing to endorse.

Of course the Democrats of the west end of the Sixth district, having something like this in the back of the mind, will watch keenly for the outcome of Gray's quest for co-operation. If they find that Gray is incapacitated for effective service in getting things for his district, they are pretty likely to go to the rank and file with an indictment setting forth the condition. And they will ask on the showing of facts, that Mr. Gray be retired, and that Lon Mull, or some live one be sent to Washington in Gray's place. In this way, they will argue the Democrats may be assured of a representative who will stand tied to the caucus post.

It is given out flatly that the west end of the Sixth district will keep on after the district chairmanship of Democrats, having in mind the overthrow of Gray in case Gray fails to "come across" with the big things the west end is planning to demand. The winter session of the Congress ought to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Sixth district Democrats just where Gray looms up as a representative and just where he fails to throw a shadow. The Shelbyville public building proposition is likely to be the undoing of the Connersville man.

The Sixth district presents unusual conditions, both Democratic and Republican. It is queer, perhaps, but it is true, that Sixth district Democrats who oppose Gray for renomination for representative, freely assert the belief that James E. Watson, if nominated by the Republicans, would defeat Gray at the polls without fail.

On the other hand, there are Republicans, opposing Watson, who say that Gray would run ahead of Watson if the Rushville man were to make an effort to "come back." The question is, "How much of this talk is a case of the wish playing paternal parent to the thought?"

Friends of Watson, the former Republican representative, assert that in case he will accept the Republican nomination he can get it without much trouble. Foes of Watson in the east part of the Sixth declare that in case Mr. Watson permits his name to be used, or if he makes a race for the nomination, they will not oppose him at the convention. They do not say what they will do after the convention. But they profess to believe that Gray, the Democrat, would be difficult to catch on the political ladder path, and they ask solicitously as to Watson's lung capacity, leg-stretch and sprinting ability.

It is altogether likely that both the Republican and the Democratic nominations for representative in the Sixth district will hinge pretty largely on the question whether Finly Gray can deliver one Federal building in good condition in a given time to the people of Shelbyville. If he is found to be at outs with his party caucus, and therefore useless as a "getter" for his home folk, it is probable that Gray will be courteously invited to walk the plank for a sorrowful kerplunk into the quiet oblivion pool.

BIG RED PORKER CLOGS UP SEWER

Workmen For City Discover 250

Pound Hog Causes Trouble in West Third Street.

ITS BODY TIGHTLY WEDGED IN

It proved to be nothing more than a big red hog that was clogging the sewer in West Third street near the Case Lumber yards, as was discovered by Street Commissioner Kelley and a gang of men employed by the city. The clogged sewer was reported to the council at a meeting some time ago and later the street commissioner was ordered to clean it out.

It was necessary for the workmen to take up about sixty feet of the tile before they discovered the 250 pound porker. It had evidently wandered into the open end of the sewer and had wedged its body in so tightly that it was unable to back out. The dead hog was dragged out and the sewer cleaned.

COUNTY FAIR IN THE BALANCE

This Condition is Revealed at Annual Meeting of Stockholders of Association in Court House.

TO PETITION COUNTY COUNCIL

That the county fair in Rush county is in the balance was revealed at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rush County Fair Association in the court house Saturday afternoon. Due to rain this year which spoiled the two last and best days of the fair, the annual exhibition was a dismal failure from a financial standpoint and the association is in a sorry state.

This is indicated by the fact that the stockholders decided to wage a hot campaign for the county tax levy to support the fair, which they have contended is due them for many years. It is estimated that the proceeds from such a levy would be equal to about two thousand dollars. Each director was instructed to start out with a petition to obtain signatures requesting the tax levy. The petitions will be presented to the county council at its next annual meeting next fall.

The same directors were re-elected and L. B. Harris was chosen vice-president which was the only change made in the officials.
